Dear Friend of Virginia's Environment:

On October 6, 2004 the Virginia Department of Environmental Quality (DEQ) will be hosting an open house and community meeting at its Northern Virginia regional office in Woodbridge. The department recognizes the value in collaborating with our stakeholders on identifying and working to solve environmental issues.

To this end, the agency has embarked on an ongoing program of direct local community involvement. Our open house is scheduled from 1:00 PM to 7:00 PM, during which time we will display information about our programs and be available to receive your questions and concerns. A community meeting hosted by DEQ Director Bob Burnley and myself will take place at 7:00 PM. Our agenda for this meeting will include an update on important environmental challenges facing Virginia. We also plan to have group discussions designed to help in furthering the identification of issues important to the citizens of northern Virginia. We hope to lay the foundation for productive future relationships.

You are encouraged to bring along other associates or friends. If you are unable to attend, please consider passing this invitation on to a friend or colleague and ask if they might be interested in attending. We hope to reach a wide and diverse audience for our program. Our goal is to not only help inform organizations and individuals about what we do, but to also provide an opportunity for DEQ staff to learn about your programs. Please feel free to share literature or other relevant information about your organization with DEQ and others attending the event.

It is our responsibility to improve public understanding of environmental protection, and as a result we will make better environmental decisions. Please let us know if this office can assist your organization in helping to communicate and promote an understanding of Virginia's environment.

The enclosed invitation includes RSVP information. If you should have any questions, please feel free to contact me directly at (703) 583-3810.

Sincerely,
